

Refund Policy

The Fly Store takes the health concerns around the Coronavirus very seriously and encourages their staff and customers to prioritize their health first.

We are temporarily suspending product returns – in order to protect our employees and our customers from any additional risk, we will not be accepting returns of any merchandise until further notice. This policy is consistent with all of our competitors. Once a product has left the store, we cannot accept it back and give a refund.